

WHY PREPARE FOR THE SAT or PSAT?

1. The SAT has had a new format starting March 2016. Our prep classes have been updated to train students for the new test.
2. The PSAT, commonly taken during the junior year, is also an automatic application for the National Merit Scholarship. A high score in the PSAT can make you eligible for a number of other scholarships as well.
3. The global economy is making college admissions more competitive. A high standardized test score is an essential part of a competitive college application. The national average SAT score is around 1000 out of 1600. Competitive colleges often require SAT scores over 1350. Are you ready?
4. High scores require more than just knowledge. Familiarity with the test format and test taking practice have been proven to improve scores.
5. The core mathematics knowledge needed for these tests is up to Algebra 2. Most students are rusty with these skills and need extensive review and practice.
6. Good essay writing skills are a must to score high in the new SAT (with writing). Can you write a two page critical essay on a passage that you saw only a minute ago?
7. Most competitive colleges take the best scores in each individual subject from multiple tests. So even those who have already taken either test once or twice can benefit from extra preparation and retaking the test.

SAT Prep Mini Courses

Our Mini Courses are designed to familiarize students with the test format, and provide a quick overview of all three areas covered by the tests – Reading, Writing, and Mathematics. The classes will cover basic areas such as vocabulary, grammar, reading comprehension, and essay writing. They also cover all the mathematics principles that are most often covered in the New SAT. These core skills will be reinforced with practice exercises, in-class reviews, and homework assignments. Taught in four sessions over four Sunday afternoons, these courses are ideal for familiarizing with the test format in a short period of time. The September classes double as training for the PSAT test offered in the middle of October.

Our classes are taught in small groups, not exceeding 15 students, by experienced coaches who have coached over 300 students. Our highest SAT scores include a perfect 2400 (old SAT), and a few over 2300. We have several perfect 800s in individual subjects: Math, Reading and Writing.

We offer test prep classes several times a year. Please follow our website for announcements as they get scheduled.
